The formations and units sent on operation "Anadyr" have been provided with combat supplies and ammunition according to the plan in the amounts of:

- □□
 □□□ □□□
1. Ground Forces: □□□ □□□ □□□
 - artillery rounds □□□ □□□ □□□
 - 1.0 unit of fire; □□□ □□
 - □□□
 - tank [shells] □□□ □□□ □□□
 - 2.25 units of fire; □□□ □□
 - □□□
 - anti-aircraft [shells] □□□ □□□ □□□
 - 2.0 units of fire; □□□ □□
 - □□□
 2. Air Force units: □□□

1000 000
1000 000 000
- aviation ammunition 1000 000 000
- 11.0 units of fire; 1000 00

These supplies support the combat operations of the troops for a short time (the ground forces and air forces – up to 10 days, the navy – up to 30 days).

In order to create a material resource base and increase the combat readiness of the troops I would consider it necessary, besides the combat supplies, to create reserves of ammunition of the group in the amounts of:

1. For the Ground Forces:

- 1 000
- 1000 000
- Small arms: 1000 000 000

Total 3500 tons

2. For Air Forces Units: 10.0 units of fire of air-to-air missiles, 3.0 units of fire of aerial bombs, and 5.0 units of fire of shells, which, together with the airfield supplies, support 20 sorties of fighter and 15 sorties of bomber aircraft.

3. For Navy units: 2.5 units of fire of artillery shells, 3.5 units of fire of anti-aircraft [rounds], and 2.0 units of fire of depth bombs (a three-month supply according to wartime norms).

It is necessary to form a joint artillery depot with a repair section of 140 men to maintain the stocks of ammunition of the Grounds Forces and the aircraft ammunition and a local motorized rifle company of 119 men for security, a total of 259 men.

I request your agreement.

Marshal of the Soviet Union
