A note regarding further procedures of talks

The organization of the "Roundtable" talks has not been, as yet, precisely defined. Preliminary arrangements are needed very quickly. In particular, I am expecting a response to the following questions:

1) How large a team is going to participate in the general debates of the Roundtable?

2) What persons and representatives of what organizations have been invited or are going to be invited?

3) What is the preliminary estimate of the duration of the Roundtable (what is meant here is the time estimate of the "first session," ending with decisions)?

4) How large are the working groups going to be? From my part I am already proposing to define the agenda for the working groups, namely (in brackets I give the names of my plenipotentiaries for the particular teams)

1/ Union pluralism (T. Mazowiecki)

2/ Economic questions (A. Wielowieyski)

3/ Social pluralism (K. Szaniawski)

4/ Political reform (B. Geremek)

5/ Law and the judicial system (J. Olszewski)[1]

6/ Agriculture and agricultural union (A. Stelmachowski)

7/ Mining questions (A. Pietrzyk).[2]

Following these preliminary explanations it will be possible to set the date of the first meeting.
